3. Middle School Showcase

Dodd Middle School administrators and teachers will showcase how they are supporting student engagement and ownership of learning through the use of a modified version of Amy Berry's Engagement Rubric from Reimagining Student Engagement.

The team will introduce the rubric and share how it is being used by students to self-reflect during independent work, group collaboration, and whole-class discussions. By creating a shared language around engagement, the rubric is helping students see themselves as active participants in their own learning—strengthening agency, collaboration, and classroom discourse. The presentation will also highlight early outcomes, including reflections from both students and teachers, that demonstrate how self-assessment is building a stronger, more confident learner identity across the school.

4. Finance Committee
